

Bhote Koshi Rafting - 2 Days

Rafting in Nepal is considered as the best adventurous experience to have during your holiday trips. Bhote koshi rafting is another white water adventures and is one of the wildest absorbing and thrilling rafting trip in Nepal. Providing the rapids of grade 4 at high flows and grade 3 at lower flows, rafting in Bhote koshi rafting offers ultimate adrenaline rush. Put in point is baseri and take out point is Dolalghat, easily accessible by road from Kathmandu. Bhote koshi rafting offers spectacular views of forest landscapes with an opportunity through the stunning valleys and deep gorges surrounded and waterfalls making it an ultimate scenic and thrilling white water adventure.

ITINERARY IN DETAIL

Day 1: We take a trip to 95 km. east from Kathmandu is the starting point Lomosangu- Dam of the trip

This is a spectacular drive through villages and if weather permits, you will have fantastic mountain views i.e. Ganesh Himal, Langtang etc, we raft the first 10 km of the MOST exciting stretch of the river and then return to the start to play again the same stretch the next day rather than continue with only half a day paddling to the end. Drives back to our camp.

Day 2: breakfasts a quick pack up and set out (approx. 9 to 10 a.m)

Breakfasts a quick pack up and set out (approx. 9 to 10 a.m.) run white water hit again a class 3 rapid starting from upper section. You have the second chance to show how your raft team can work well together in challenging rapids. We have lunch on the river beach and continue the action until the take out point Dolalghat Bazaar about 2 to 3 p.m. and bus back to Kathmandu. Our trip is over here.