You will be transferred to the airport for a morning flight to Lukla. This is one of the most remarkable flights on the planet. As you fly northeast, the snowline of the high mountains will be on your left and rugged foothills, valleys, and small villages to the south on your right.

Lukla is a small town of Solukhumbu district, province no. 1 eastern Nepal sitting at 2860m above the sea line. You will meet more of the crew upon landing. Enjoy a cup of tea while the crew manages the luggage to be carried by the porter.

Now your trekking guide leads your way through National Luminary Pasang Lhamu Memorial Gate from where the route to Everest Base Camp begins. We initially walk northeast through the village and descend to the Dudh Koshi River and trek for 3-4 hours to reach the beautiful village of Phakding.

Lukla Flights

The primary gateway to the Everest Base Camp Trek is via a flight to Lukla (2840m), which lands at one of the world's most extreme airports: Tenzing-Hillary Airport. Positioned on a narrow plateau above a steep cliff with a short and narrow runway, the flight itself is as thrilling as it is challenging. Weather conditions here are notoriously unpredictable, with visibility shifting rapidly, which adds a layer of excitement to the journey.

Ramechhap Airport

During the busy trekking seasons in spring (March, April) and autumn (October, November), Kathmandu Airport faces significant congestion, leading most flights to Lukla to operate from Manthali Airport in Ramechhap, approximately a 4-5 hour drive from Kathmandu. To avoid this drive, you can opt for a helicopter flight from Kathmandu, though this is an additional expense.

Weather

Flights to Lukla are dependent on clear weather and stable conditions. Delays or cancellations are common due to sudden shifts in weather, which may extend your trekking plans by a few days. We recommend adding buffer days to your itinerary to mitigate any disruptions to your return travel plans.

In the event of prolonged delays, a helicopter transfer to Lukla is an alternative, although this incurs additional costs and is not included in the standard trek package. While helicopters can operate in some conditions that planes cannot, extreme weather can ground them as well. In such cases, we will endeavor to arrange a helicopter charter, subject to availability and weather permitting. Please note, helicopter availability is limited and may lead to delays.

We ask for your flexibility and understanding in these situations. If weather conditions prevent flights for an extended period, an alternative is to drive to Tham Danda—a challenging 20-hour journey—and begin the trek from there. This route is prone to difficulties, especially in adverse weather, requiring extra days and considerable patience.

Should conditions make the Everest Base Camp Trek unfeasible, we can redirect to other treks such as Annapurna Base Camp or Langtang Gosainkunda. While these treks do not lead to Everest Base Camp, they offer stunning views and rewarding experiences.

Your cooperation and flexibility are crucial in navigating these complexities, ensuring a memorable and enjoyable trekking experience regardless of the route.

Day 4: Trek Phakding to Namche Bazaar (3440 m/11283 ft): 10.5KM/5-6 hours

Have breakfast in the same lodge before gearing up for the trek to Namche Bazaar, the biggest Sherpa town in Nepal. You then will continue your journey alongside Dudhkoshi River which will lead us past pine woods. Crossing suspension bridges at numerous points and walk passing pocket-sized small settlements of Zapute, Toktok, Benkar, and Chumoa, you will reach the village of Monjo.

Ahead of Monjo, at Jorsale your guide will complete entry formalities to enter the Sagarmatha National Park, a natural World Heritage Site that preserves the diverse wildlife and vegetation of the mountain environment.

After crossing the high Hillary Bridge situated at the foot of Namche Bazaar, you begin the steep climb to Namche Bazaar. When you reach Top Danda, you shall have the first view of Mt. Everest and Lhotse along with Mt. Thamserku if the weather is crystal. Continue gradual ascent to Namche Bazaar.

Namche is the most popular stop and the largest and most visited village in the Everest region. This vibrant town is surrounded by Mt. Thamserku, Mt. Kwangde, and the sacred mountain Khumbila in the east, west, and north, respectively. Having several narrow streets, it facilitates cafes, handicrafts, foodstuffs, shops with varieties of gears and equipment, vegetable shops, ATMs, banks, cyber and many others.

Upon arrival at your lodge, check-in and get rest as you might suffer from a bit tired and headache. With proper rest and acclimatization, everything will be better.

Accommodation: Yeti Mountain Home. Meals: B,L,D

Day 5: Acclimatization Day at Namche Bazaar: 3-4 hours walk

Today is scheduled as an acclimatization day during your luxurious journey to Everest. You need to get acclimatized with the growing altitude. There are a couple of options: after breakfast, you can either have a short hike to Everest View Hotel (3880m) to get the beautiful views of Mt. Lhotse (8414m), Mt. Everest (8848m), Kusum Kanguru (6367m), Thamserku (6623m), Nuptse (7861m), and Ama Dablam (6856m), or hike up to the village of Thame (3810m).

You can even visit the National Park Headquarters to see the exciting exhibitions of Sherpa culture and lifestyle. Hiking to the village of Khumjung and Khunde are other beautiful options. Also, you can just explore around Namche Bazaar.

Accommodation: Yeti Mountain Home or Everest View Hotel. Meals: B,L,D

Day 6: Trek to Deboche (3820m/12532ft) via Tengboche: 10km/5-6 hours

After breakfast in the lodge, gear up for the Deboche enjoying spectacular views of mountains including Mt. Everest. The journey continues following the gradual trails passing a couple of ups and downs overlooking some wild lives as pheasant, Himalayan Thar, musk deer, and others reaching Sansa-a junction of Everest Base Camp and Gokyo Lakes Trek trails.

Continuing the hiking through pine woods, prayer flags, and mane walls, you reach at Dudh Koshi River again and cross it. Subsequently, you reach Phunki Thenga and get yum lunch there. Now, you have a small climb via pine forests to reach Tengboche. It is a religious site having the biggest Buddhist monastery in the Khumbu region and also offers a close-up view of great mountains. We will explore the monastery and maybe also attend the afternoon puja ceremony. Pushing another 30 minutes through beautiful pine and birch trees, we arrive at Deboche for an overnight stay.

Accommodation: Rivendell Lodge at Deboche. Meals: B,L,D

Day 7: Trek to Dingboche (4410 m/14464 ft): 10 km/5-6 hours

After the morning meal, we walk the narrow ridge top path cherishing the views of Amadablam (6812m). and Everest sneaking beside Nuptse. Walking by the side of several Chortens, Mani stones, and we descend through the forest, cross ImjaKhola, and climb gradually up to the Pangboche village- the highest real settlements of Khumbu valley. At Pangboche, we are surrounded by the grandest views of Himalayan peaks.

We will take a brief stop (tea break if its not lunchtime) at Pangboche to enjoy the beautiful view of Amadablam and other moutnains.

Now we walk across some yak herders' cottages, dense forest of juniper and walled fields at Orsho before crossing a stream and making a final steep ascent to Dingboche.

Slowly as we get closer to Dingboche, the lush forest changes in shrub-like growths. We can feel symptoms of mountain sickness like headache, nausea, vomiting, and loss of appetite. We should walk slowly, drink plenty of liquid, and as we acclimatize the symptoms will go away in most of us.

Accommodation: Digboche Resort or similar. Meals: B,L,D

Day 8: Acclimatization day at Dingboche: acclimatization hike to Nangkartshang peak

On our second acclimatization day today we will go according to the rule of acclimatization at high altitude, i.e. hike to higher altitude and sleep at lower altitude.

So, we go for an acclimatization hike to either to Chhukung Ri or Nangkartshang peak (also known as Nagarjun Hill). Most probably we will hike the Nangkartshang peak all the way to the top or part of it.

In about two hours of leaving our lodge at Dingboche, we reach a splendid viewpoint of Nagarjun peak which is decorated with numerous miniature stupas and prayer flags.

The view from here of Mt. Everest, Mt, Lobuche East, Mt. Kangtega, Mt. Taboche, Mt. Lobuche West, Mt. Amadablam and Mt. Thamserku and outstanding. From the top, the Pheriche valley on the other side can be seen. We trek back to Dingboche and spend the day resting and exploring the Dingboche Village.

Accommodation: Dingboche Resort or similar. Meals: B,L,D

Day 9: Trek to Lobuche (4910 m/16105 ft): 8km/5-6 hours

Leaving Dingboche, we take a short climb and reach an undulating plateau. Walking because exigent at this altitude but we try on taking a deep breath and to motivate ourselves by the incredible sight of snow-covered peaks as we stride vigilantly on the boulder-strewn trail.

We navigate a wooden bridge over tumbling waters at Thukla. We have our lunch at Thukla and after lunch, the lengthy climb begins along the zig-zag trail.

We reach the Thukla pass where there is a memorial park decorated with prayer flags those flutter magnificently in the chilly breeze.

The memorial is an emotional honor to those who lost lives on the Everest expedition. Although this place offers incredible views of majestic mountains like Khumbutse, Lingtren, Pumori, etc, we really cannot enjoy it because the memorials of those who lost their lives at a young age make us poignant. We continue mutely to Lobuche remembering the brave souls.

Accommodation: Pyramid Lodge or similar. Meals: B,L,D

Day 10: Trek to Gorakshep (5181 m/16994 ft) to Everest Base Camp (5364 m/17594 ft) and back to Gorakshep: 10km/7-8 hours

Its a great day today. We will be on the foot of Mt. Everest today. It is a long day hike and we need to start the journey early after breakfast.

Leaving Lobuche, we walk northeast along the Khumbu glacial moraine to Gorakshep. The walk is quite demanding due to the altitude. The trail looks uninteresting as there are boulders everywhere but at the horizon, the persistent view of Nuptse, Lhotse, and Everest ahead motivates us to move ahead. But, we need to take care while we walk over the boulders and loose rocks.

We reach Gorekshep in about 3 hours. In Gorekshep, we will check-in at our lodge, get refreshed, and have lunch.

After lunch, we put on ample clothes and gear that protect us from the harsh and chilly afternoon wind and we head towards Everest Base Camp. The way to base camp is unstable and is fairly arduous. The views are awesome as we get nearer. After two hours of a hike from Gorekshep, we reach Everest Base Camp, a natural arena marked with prayer flags. The mountains line up around Everest Base Camp. Mt.Pumori, Mt. Khumbutse, Mt. Changtse, Mt. Lingtren, and Nuptse. But Mt. Everest hides behind Nuptse. We hug and celebrate the joy of being at Everest Base Camp, and of course, take plenty of pictures.

If it's the climbing season (April, May) Everest base camp is colorful with tents and climbers. After spending some time at the Everest Base Camp and celebrating the grand success we get back to Gorekshep.

Usually, mountain weather becomes cloudy towards the afternoon but if it is clear we need to see the sunset over the mountains from Gorekshep which is breathtaking.

Note: Although the Everest Base Camp Luxury Trek program has an Everest base camp hike today, we suggest hiking to Kala Patthar today (only if the weather is clear) and doing Everest Base Camp the following day, ie. change the plan because its fantastic opportunity to be at Kalapatthar at sunset.

Accommodation: Hotel Buddha or similar. Meals: B,L,D

Day 11: Hike to Kalapatthar (5545 m/18192 ft), Hike back to Gorekshep and further to Pheriche (4,210 m/13,809 ft): 12km/6-7 hours

Wake up early morning for hiking to Kala Patthar- the most elevated part of the trek and popular vantage point for mesmerizing sunrise. For that, you will receive an early door knock by your trip leader and gear up wearing trekking shoes up with a pair of trekking poles and a backpack with a bottle of water with a camera and few nuts inside.

Now continue upward hike following the footsteps of your trekking leader with the help of torchlight. The temperature is below negative, the weather is too cold, and mostly chill breeze blows making the surrounding even freezing. Despite being just 1.2 kilometers, it generally takes 2-3 hours to reach Kala Patthar from Gorekshep.

Notwithstanding these all, once you reached there, the view is simply awe-inspiring. The views of the first rays of sun over world-class peaks including the tallest one is a lifetime experience. The excessive sights of the summit of Everest as well as other Himalayan giants, Lhotse, Nuptse, Pumori, Lingtren, Khumbutse, Changtse, and numerous other needles and snow fluted ridges is truly breathtaking.

After some pictures of the rewarding panorama head back to Gorekshep. Have lunch together there and hike back trail back down to Lobuche and further to Dugla. Now, instead of walking back to Dingboche, descend to a flat valley a short distance reaching a small village of Pheriche for a good night stay.
